on a three-year-old filly, Baby Girl, that he is breaking for the Indian costume classes in Appaloosa horse shows; note that he is riding bareback, and controlling the horse with only a small piece of rawhide that is looped around the lower jaw and inside the mouth of the horse. At upper left is Dilts' Ming

Toy, a colt foaled this year; center left is a brood mare, Pocahontus, sired by the famous Appaloosa stud, Chief Malheur; lower left is Chief Tule, a 17-month-old stallion that the Dilts plan to use with their mares next year. With the exception of the mare, which was not entered, all of the horses shown were high place winners in the recent National Appaloosa show held at Santa Barbara.

Budget, New Policies, Personnel Are Some Of Problems Now Facing City Council After First 90 Days

By Bill Rodgers

PORTERVILLE, July 2—When the Porterville city council adopts a budget and sets a tax rate for 1959-60 at the July 7 meeting, just three months will have passed since the April 7 election that brought something of a "new look" to the council table.

So, perhaps, a report on the "state of the city" is in order — a strictly personal report, however, and certainly not in any sense a statement of official council policy.

Budget, tax rate, new personnel are immediate problems; a reappraisal of certain departmental operations and charges are indicated during the coming year; a revision and strengthening of administrative procedures throughout the city seem certain; immediate improvement of city parks — particularly Murry park that has deteriorated to a disgraceful degree, can be expected, also general clean-up and paint-up of the various parcels of city property scattered about the community.

Facing the council during the past month has been a tentative budget for the fiscal 1959-60 year that runs about $270,000 over last year, and which totals $1,284,249.37. Certain "bugs" have been found in this budget, however, in seven night meetings, with the city manager and department heads, councilmen have gone over this budget item by item, questioning virtually everything, and, in a final meeting tonight, it is hoped that the budget will be completed, and balanced.

SPORTSMEN TO IMPROVE PONDS AT BALCH PARK

PORTERVILLE, July 2—Work parties to clean up the area around ponds that were constructed last year at Balch park were planned by directors of the Southern Tulare County Sportsmen's association at a meeting last night at the Elks lodge.

Early next spring the sportsmen's group will plant trees and ferns around the new ponds. It was stated that because of water conditions, no catchable trout will be planted in the ponds this year.

The sportsmen also reaffirmed the association stand, favoring multiple use of the Kern Plateau area.

DILTS' RANCH ADDS ANOTHER FAMOUS BREED OF HORSES TO THIS AREA — APPALOOSAS

By Bill Rodgers

MILO, July 2 — One of the world's oldest breeds of horses — the Appaloosa — is the newest breed to be added to southern Tulare county's population of fine horses.

Responsible for this addition are John H. and Laura Dilts, who have six head of registered Appaloosas, with four others that will be registered, on their 1,600-acre Lally-Pop ranch in the Milo district.

And attesting to the quality of their horses are the ribbons they won in June at the National Appaloosa Horse show held in Santa Barbara, where the four horses that they entered all placed high among the best of the breed in the nation.

Dilts' Ming Toy, foaled this year, placed fourth in his class; Chief Tule, a 17-month-old stallion that has the spectacular spotted coloring of the Appaloosa and that will be used next year by the Dilts for their own ranch breeding, placed third in a highly competitive class of 26 studs; Pepper's Silver Chief, now being used as the Dilts' ranch stud, placed fourth in his class, and Baby Girl, a three-year-old filly, took a fourth.

The Dilts', who purchased ranch property at Milo about six years ago, became interested in Appaloosa horses two years ago. In addition to their registered Appaloosas, which they plan to increase, they also have several mares of other breeds crossed with their Appaloosa stallion.

The spotted Appaloosa is sometimes called the "Indian pony", since this type of horse was common among middlewestern Indians in the pioneer days.

Actually, however, the Appaloosa is one of the world's oldest breeds, prehistoric pictures of the "spotted horse", dating back 20,000 years, appearing on walls of caves in France, while horses with the distinctive Appaloosa coloring appear (Continued on page 8)

Citrus Frost Insurance Now Being Written

PORTERVILLE, July 2—Citrus growers in the area, and throughout Tulare county, are now being contacted regarding frost insurance for 1959-60, according to Nelson Little, who heads the Federal Crop Insurance corporation program in this area.

Little reports that during the past season—the first season that citrus frost insurance was offered in this area — a total of $22,000 was paid out, representing about 15 cents out of each premium dollar paid into the program.

Major frost damage last season came on January 3 and 4, when lows of 21 degrees were recorded in some areas.

Full information concerning the citrus frost insurance program can be obtained at the Federal Crop Insurance office in the basement of the Porterville post office building.

Postmasters

PORTERVILLE, July 2 — Permanent appointment of John W. Baker as Porterville postmaster was announced this week by U.S. Senator Thomas H. Kuchel, following confirmation of Baker by the U.S. Senate.

Also up for permanent appointment is William F. Evans, postmaster at Ducor. Senator Kuchel submitted the names of both Baker and Evans for postmaster appointments upon recommendation of the Tulare County Republican Central committee.

BONUS TUESDAY IS $395. WOW!

TULARE COUNTY'S first baby on Father's day was Walter Joe Rodgers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rodgers, of 704 Putnam avenue, Porterville, born at 12:02 a.m., June 21, at the Sierra View hospital in Porterville. Walter Joe weighed in at nine pounds, two ounces, and should keep right on growing, since a supply of Gerber's baby beef was presented to him by the Tulare County Cow Belles in keeping with their "Beef For Father's Day" theme. Shown above, at right, is Mrs. Arthur Wardlaw, of Porterville, president of the Tulare County Cow Belles, presenting the beef for Walter Joe, along with a beef roast for his parents, however, the center of attraction, Walter Joe seems to be more interested in his father, who is home on leave from the United States Navy, than in the presentation ceremony. The baby was born on the first wedding anniversary of his parents. (Farm Tribune photo)

JULY 4, 1776

We hold these truths to be self evident: That all men are created free and equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness . . .

We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in general congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name, and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare that these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States . . . And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor.

much will the city tax rate be? We don't know at the moment, but almost certainly, the final budget will be scaled down, and at present there is a feeling among councilmen that it will be possible to hold the present city tax rate. Tonight tells the story on this.

Two major personnel problems now face the city: Cap Carleson, city engineer, has gone to the city of Visalia; City Manager Charles Cummings has resigned, effective September 15.

OUR TOWN

By Gardner (Bud) Wheeler

OUR COLUMN SKIPPED a heartbeat last week in spite of all our fervent New Year's resolutions not to miss all year. However, the literary world will probably survive this blank in the world of letters without much trouble. Actually, we were in the throes of a modern day torture session when we normally reduce our thoughts to paper. This modern torture begins with a capital D and is known 'round and about as Dentistry.

THE VICTIM IS USHERED into a chamber lavishly supplied with instruments of torture sometimes known as drills, picks and one thing and another. He is placed in a chair that is virtually escape-proof and tilted back in a position that renders him helpless. The head inquisitor, who also goes by the title of Dentist, then approaches with a handful of tools, a benign expression and the affable suggestion that the victim open his mouth — wide. It does no good that the operator makes pleasant comments about the beauties of the weather and other small chit-chat to throw the victim off-guard, because said victim usually has a mouthful of tools, hands and plumbing of one type and another. This one-way conversation while in the dentist's chair is simply a refinement of the torture. Unfortunately, the only alternative to this business is to let your teeth fall out, which can be both awkward and embarrassing, especially, if you are addicted to steak and corn on the cob.

WITH NOTABLE PUNCTUALITY the Fourth of July is once again upon us. This always wakens a stream of nostalgic thoughts in your wayward correspondent. To us, the Fourth was the one day of the year that we put out our very best efforts in unorganized recreation. That was the time when firecrackers were sold right over the counter to one and all who had the money to buy. There was no stigma attached to this business, and any red-blooded American boy who didn't have an armload of firecrackers to greet the dawn of the Fourth was simply a social leper, who had spent money foolishly instead of for firecrackers.

NATURALLY, WE WELCOMED the early dawn with a cannonading that sounded like the Battle of Bull Run which must have been a sound of great joy to all parents. We can just hear them now sleepily mumbling, "There are the little darlings blowing themselves limb from limb. How nice." Peculiarly, we always seemed to survive the cannonading, though it took about

COLORFUL BOOK IS PUBLISHED ON "FACTS ABOUT TULARE COUNTY" WITH INFORMATION ON PORTERVILLE AREA

VISALIA, July 2 — Just off the press is an excellent, new, 80-page book titled, "A Few Facts About Tulare County," published by the Tulare county chamber of commerce and available to the public at 75 cents a copy.

Two four-color reproductions are featured on the cover — the entrance to Sequoia National park, and the new county courthouse. Included in the book is statistical and historical information concerning the county.

Featured articles include information on Balch park, a story about Bartlett park, an account of the Tule River Indian reservation and of Tailholt and White River, a description of the Success dam development, a brief comment on Tule river and Deer Creek, a story on the Terra Bella Irrigation district, and a listing of wildflowers of Tulare county by Basil E. Jamison, retired, former dean of Porterville college.

An account of the Porterville Northeastern railroad, that ran from Porterville to Springville, written by Ina H. Stiner, is reprinted from the November 4, 1954 edition of The Farm Tribune, and a brief history of the Porterville fair is given. Facilities at the Porterville airport are listed.

Excellent photographs are included in the book, as well as historical data compiled by Annie Mitchell, of Visalia; Joe Doctor, of two weeks for the cats and the dogs in the neighborhood to regain their calm.

NOWADAYS, ANYONE CAUGHT with a firecracker is in about the same category as a dope pusher. Now, it is true, that all the banging and blowing did not make us youngsters any more fervent patriots than we find today. But, it did punctuate that time of the year that was the birth of freedom for this nation. Long years after the firecrackers have popped their last, that day is still significant to us, though in a different perspective. We wonder if the youngsters today aren't missing a little of the fun and fervor.

Exeter, and Harold Schutt, of Lindsay.

In total the new publication presents a condensed, interesting and highly informative compilation of facts concerning the "Garden of the Sun", Tulare county.

Kern county, and the westside district, centered at Huron, are starting to pick cantaloupes.

We Only Heard

By BILL RODGERS

WE LOOK with some dismay upon our daughter's summer school course in speed reading, not that we question the value of reading a few good books during the summer, but this business of reading by the phrase, or by the line, or by the page, has its drawbacks as well as its advantages.

ACTUALLY, THE words of great authors are not to be taken lightly, nor rapidly; they are to be read thoughtfully, with appreciation, and with sufficient subjugation of one's own thoughts to create the mood and the picture in the mind of the reader that the author intended to put there.

WE DOUBT that words read in groups can produce this effect; we feel that rapid reading of fine writing slights the author, for while the plot, the general theme, the overall idea can be obtained by skimming a book, the end result is a sort of mechanical appreciation, not a deep appreciation that comes when a reader allows each word to contribute to the total impression that the good author creates.

THE IDEA is the same with the current trend toward condensation of books. Certainly, some modern books lose nothing by condensation, because there isn't much to lose in the first place. But the good book, by a capable writer should be read as the writer intended — as a succession of words, each of which contribute to and builds the total theme and mood.

OF COURSE speed reading and book condensation is in keeping with the times—rush to do everything, save a few minutes on one thing, waste them someplace else.

CERTAINLY WE are not going to tell our daughter to drop her speed reading course, nor are we going to tell her not to continue to develop the ability of rapid mechanical comprehension that comes from speed reading.

BUT SOMEWHERE along the line we hope that the idea dawned on her that comprehension of great literary works is one thing, appreciation another.

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Inasmuch as Firestone is one of the Big Four that enjoys a practical monopoly in rubber and automotive tires, it could perhaps be said that their problems have no place in a small business column.

But recently Firestone was accorded treatment by one of the big TV networks which causes wonder whether or not the investigations launched some time ago by Rep. Emanuel Celler into the TV industry should not be pushed further, with perhaps the Federal Communications Commission, which controls broadcasting, directed to abolish the networks.

For 30 years Firestone, first in radio and then in TV, presented a weekly program of fine music known as the Voice of Firestone. After many years it was unceremoniously booted off the facilities of the National Broadcasting Company, refused by the Columbia system, accepted by the American Broadcasting System, now booted off this network.

Now in the broadcasting business, they live by a rather silly shibboleth called ratings. In a medium size city, if 20 people were found to be listening to a program, that program gets a rating point.

As the late Fred Allen once said "Broadcast rating systems are like counting grains of sand in the bottom of a birdcage to find out how many grains of sand there are in the Sahara."

While the Firestone program of fine music never attained on © National Federation of Independent Business this basis the highest ratings, even accepting the rating system at face value, it did have an audience.

Arvin-Wheeler ridge district is marketing sweet corn in good volume.

There seems to be quite a few people who want something more than horse operas and warmed over jokes on their TV set.

But according to the networks, the rating systems show that the majority of people prefer horse operas and warmed over jokes, thus those liking something else are out of luck.

Here is perhaps monopoly in its most strenuous form. Not only are advertisers told what they must present on the networks, but the public is also told what they must look at.

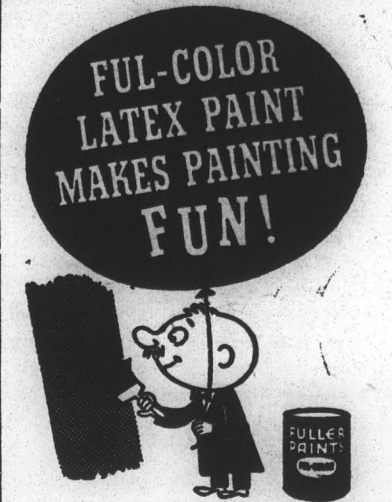

Actually there is little need for network TV. Most shows are filmed, but if independent stations want these films they are clubbed into joining the network, or affiliating, as the term goes, and forced during the prime evening hours to run these network programs at just a fraction of their normal rates.

Thus, they have to scramble around to get local and regional advertisers to pay extremely high rates, for the 20 second spot announcements between these programs, to make up for the loss.

So, any local advertiser who pays the price for spots between programs by giants who are sponsoring the shows, are in actuality subsidizing these giants. Thus, obviously, without the networks monopolizing the TV industry, both the interests of the public and of independent advertisers would be better served. It would seem high time for a long look-see into this monopoly operating under auspices of a government bureau which is supposed to keep the air free.

About 400 acres of sweet corn is now coming on in the Visalia area.

Carrot harvest is virtually over in Imperial valley, but harvest is increasing in the Salinas, Santa Maria, Oxnard and Orange county areas.

(THIS COLUMN PRESENTED BY THE ORANGE BELT SADDLE CLUB, PRODUCER OF THE ANNUAL PORTERVILLE ROUNDUP.)

MARION, ILL. — Slim Pickens, top bullfighter and funny man of the arena, had a real sad tale to tell me the other day.

He'd been workin' on the Marlon Brando movie, "One-Eyed Jacks", for the past 15 weeks and one Friday evening they told him his part was over and he could take off.

So . . . Slim goes home and spends the whole weekend gettin' himself all prettied up.

Monday mornin' — bright and early — he gets a call from the movie company. They'd decided to add to his part and keep him on for another three weeks . . . startin' right then!

By the time he'd hung up that phone Slim had no love for barbers.

"I told that durn fool not to take so much off," he said. "That doggoned haircut cost me about $3,000!"

Pickens has been around the rodeo arena for a long while. At one time he won his share in the ridin' events . . . even tried his hand at steer wrestlin'.

Right now he's doin' good in the motion picture business and says this may be his last year at fightin' bulls.

Slim has saved many a boy from injury in the bull ridin' and now he's come up with an idea that could save a lot more cowboys' lives.

He's designed a skull cap that fits inside a cowboy hat . . . looks pretty western and is heck for stout.

Slim tells me I'm the first guinea pig for the new lid, when I tried it out here in Marion. It's O.K. . . too, about not botherin' you . . . but sure looks funny with a chin strap. It's a little hot, too, but I figure Slim can fix that by drillin' a few holes for air.

The Salinas, Calif. people are really gettin' in shape for their big California Rodeo, July 16-19. Four performances they're havin' — all days — with a total purse of $13,200.

Saddle bronc and bull riding winners will divide $2,400 purses, with $2,200 in bareback and steer wrestling and $2,000 in calf ropin' and team ropin'.

Ought to be quite a rodeo, too. They've got parades and the whole shootin' match planned for the crowd.

Marty Wood, the saddle bronc champion for 1958, got married the other day to a pretty young filly named Jean Rude, who used to be a square dancer on the Ozark Jubilee television program.

I've been takin' so much kiddin' out of Marty since January about being a brand new bridegroom, myself, that it gave me quite a kick to see the petticoats hangin' out the back of his brand new Imperial.

I guess me and him are about even now . . .

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

● Sleeping Habits

Q. My year-old baby always sleeps with his head turned to the right and this side of his head is quite flat. What can I do to correct this?

A. At this age the sleeping habits are fairly well fixed and the year-old can roll over to any desired position at will. Try placing him on his stomach before he goes to sleep. If this doesn't work, try to change the sleeping position after he is sound asleep. The head flattening won't harm his brain and will tend to correct itself in time.

Q. "Is Meniere's disease curable? What treatment is used?" —C. H.

A. True Meniere's disease is due to accumulation of excess fluid within the inner ear but what causes this water-logging is unknown. Most medical treatment is aimed at drying out the affected parts. Special diets and drugs are used with good results

Answers do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician. Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

● Meniere's Disease

in some cases, not so good in others. Ear surgery is the last resort. When certain other inner ear conditions cause the dizziness, head noises and deafness of true Meniere's disease, doctors refer to it as Meniere's syndrome, meaning a group of symptoms. Here, the chances for a cure may be better than in true Meniere's disease. For example, the inner ear condition causing the symptoms may be due to an allergic upset. If so, treat the allergy and the ear symptoms clear up.

YOUR LEGISLATOR AT WORK!

Senator J. Howard Williams
32nd District
California State Legislature

It looks as though the Assembly interim committees will have their work cut out for them between now and the 1961 session. A record total of 340 bills were sent by the 1959 session to the rules committee for reassignment to an interim group. An additional 61 Assembly measures were referred by the Senate to its interim committees for study.

As was expected, the Assembly followed its previous practice by designating its regular standing committees to act during the interim period. Using one multipurpose resolution for the task, instead of a separate one for each group, the Assembly established twenty-four groups to carry on its investigations of important problems for the next two years.

Like the Senate, which cut the number of its interim committees to thirteen and imposed other restrictions on them in the interest of economy, the Assembly also acted to control expenditures of its fact-finding groups. It lumped all amounts for their expenses into one item, and cut the total twenty-five percent below the amount spent during the 1957-59 interim. The number of joint interim committees, on which members of both houses serve, was also reduced considerably. Many of these were created in 1957 to carry out special projects, and the legislation resulting from their studies went through the mill during the 1959 session. Several others were consolidated into one joint interim group to deal with legislative organization.

The 340 items to be studied during the interim cover a very wide range of topics. Some of them are topics which proved to be knotty problems when first brought up, so more time is required to work out details of acceptable legislation. Others proved to be controversial for one reason or another, so time is needed to work out appropriate compromises on their provisions.

To pick out only a few items as examples, here are some of the matters which Assembly committees will be taking up during the months to come:

First is one which is intended to reduce the cost of civil suits, and end long delays in closing them. As introduced, it would authorize the judges of any county superior court to permit pre-trial conferences between opposing interests in any such suit at which the matters at issue might be decided.

Another would have required narcotics offenders when released from imprisonment or fined to register with local police authorities in their place of residence.

A third would require the state to pay part of local costs for providing certain types of protective services to young children.

Another would revise and broaden the law which prohibits state and local officials from having any interests in contracts let by the public agencies with which they are connected.

A fifth would extend the protection of law to those who purchase service warranties or contracts on household appliances and other similar property. It would subject the sellers of such warranties or contracts to supervision by the insurance commissioner and require deposits from them to assure performance of the warranties.

The last would prohibit the sale of gasoline or diesel fuel containing more than a specified amount of contaminants such as sulfur or acid.

From this brief review, it appears the Assembly interim groups will be pretty busy during the coming months.

During the summer we would like to trade writing jobs with Bill Rodgers. This is because there isn't much to say about the nursery business come summer, but you can always complain about politics or the government in general.

About all that happens this time of year is the new lawns die, the white birch suffer heart attacks, the aphids and red spider feast on the shrubs, mulberry leaves turn yellow, the corn gets worms, and the lawn mower quits running.

This is probably why people go on vacation—they just hope things are better somewhere else. By the time they're back either the insects have left or the plant's dead and there isn't much else to worry about.

We do have cures for some of these problems. The lawn may have moths or fungus which can be sprayed. It might also help not to mow too close or too often and it will surely help to feed it. The dead white birch we can only offer sympathy—they think this country is too darn hot winter and summer.

Bugs can be sprayed, the yellow mulberry leaves need Zinc Sulfate, everything needs deep watering, and the lawnmower is probably just out of gas. We're about out of gas too and we'll be closed Saturday, July 4 and Sunday, July 5 to refuel. Best wishes for a happy Fourth, take it easy on the fifth, (or the pint) and we'll see you next week.

The Declaration of Independence sets forth many reasons for ending the allegiance of the 13 Colonies to the British Crown. Among them are these: "He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be a ruler of a free people."

But America is again plundered and destroyed by a tyrannical power, SIN is its name.

This tyrant's vast red army of vice and violence ravishes the nation. This tyrant makes 1 in every 21 adults an alcoholic, and causes a major crime to be committed every 11 seconds. Sin costs Uncle Sam over 16 BILLION a year, to prosecute and curb crime. It is estimated that the average criminal's career costs the U.S.A., in taxes, enough money to run a Sunday School for 100 pupils for 10 years! Because of Sin's malignant rule, over 36 million young people under 25 years of age never attend church or Sunday School. Significantly, 1 in 6 of them has a delinquency record.

With millions of her people slaves to Sin, America cannot brag about being free.

As the early colonists arose and threw off the yoke of a despotic prince, we must break our chains

California Poultry Position Shows Improvement In 1958, According To Crop and Livestock Reporting Service

SACRAMENTO, July 2 — Position of California poultrymen during 1958 showed improvement over 1957, according to the 1958 poultry industry summary released this week by the California Crop and Livestock Reporting service.

Led by increased egg receipts, total cash farm receipts from poultry rose eight per cent above 1957, to $256 million; this figure is below the record $304 million received in 1953.

Egg production in 1958 set another record, reaching 4.9 billion eggs, a 6 per cent increase over 1957. There were 47.8 million broilers and 28.6 million other chickens raised on California farms—an increase of 10 per cent over 1957 for both groups. Turkey producers raised 13.6 million birds, 7 per cent over 1957 for both groups. Turkey producers raised 13.6 million birds, 7 per cent short of the 1957 record. Commercial hatchery production during 1958 was 106 million chicks, 12 per cent more than 1957, and 15.5 million turkey poults, 3 per cent less than in 1957.

Prices received by farmers for poultry and poultry products were above those of 1957 for most items. The annual average price received for eggs showed a 5 per cent increase. Prices received for farm chickens (excluding commercial broilers and fryers) and for turkeys were 4 per cent above 1957 levels. The 1958 average of evil habits and defeat that devilish tyrant, Sin, that's ravishing and destroying the bloom of our young manhood and young womanhood.

Refuse to bow to this tyrant. With Christ on your side, Sin can no longer dominate you. So declare your freedom. This July 4th will then have new meaning for you.

You'll want to beat a drum, burn firecrackers, and shout Hallelujah!

price for broilers and fryers was 3 per cent less than 1957, and the lowest since 1941.

Prospects for 1959 are not as bright as in 1958. With an increased rate of lay, chickens from last year's large hatch have pushed monthly egg production to record levels. Egg prices have been below last year, with a break in price occurring about mid-April. No market improvement in price is evident, as production of egg type chicks is above last year.

Heavy broiler chick hatchings from 1958 have extended into 1959. Prices received by farmers for broilers and fryers have been from 2 to 5 cents below 1958 levels during the first four months of 1959.

Indian trade to the area of the Nez Perce Indians in the valleys of the Snake, Palouse and Clearwater rivers in sections of Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

The Nez Perce Indians developed and improved the breed, in fact the present breed name itself seems to have come from Palouse (the river), the word changing over a period of time to Apalouse, Apalouse, and later to Appaloosa.

As the West developed, and Indians were encouraged to replace their light horses with heavier work stock, the Appaloosa population dwindled, in fact the horse at one time bordered on extinction in America, however, the Appaloosa is again on the up-grade, with over 2,000 head now registered, while these horses, that through the centuries have been used for war, racing, and hunting, are now being developed for stock work, parade, and pleasure riding.

Mr. and Mrs. Dilts, who came to this area from southern California, and who still own business property in Whittier, state that the Appaloosa can be bay, sorrel, black or white, in addition to the characteristically spotted horse, but that the eye of the true Appaloosa will always be circled by white, the same as the human eye; the skin will be irregularly spotted with black and white; the hoofs will be striped, black and white, vertically, and there is usually some form of spotting, ranging from specks to three or four inches in diameter.

Colts often are of a solid color, however they develop the Appaloosa coloring as they age. In fact, spots may continue to develop on an individual animal up to seven years of age.

"Coloring of the Appaloosa is one of its most important and distinctive characteristics," Mrs. Dilts says. "Some of us in the association are concerned about a tendency to rate up solid-color horses in our shows and now there is considerable pressure developing to increase show points for the spotted coloring."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Dilts emphasize the characteristic of endurance that is found in the Appaloosa. In fact they say that coloring, endurance, easy riding qualities, and long-muscled smooth legs, plus a high degree of intelligence, are the basic characteristics that Appaloosa breeders are working to maintain and develop.

And certainly all of these characteristics have come down through the ages with the "spotted horse". Invaders of Austria from the steppes of Asia used these horses in 1,000 B.C.; first actual recorded history of the Appaloosa was written by the Greek historian, Herodotus, who tells of the "sacred horses" used to draw the chariot of Xerxes, king of Persia, when this monarch attempted the invasion of Greece in 400 B.C.

By this time in history, the Appaloosa was a special breed, reserved for kings and high-ranking nobles; the Persians claim that the greatest horse the world has ever known was the Appaloosa warhorse, Rakush, ridden by their folk hero, Roustem.

So Mr. and Mrs. Dilts have added another breed of colorful, registered horses to this area, bringing the Appaloosa into the company of the Arabian, the Quarter horse, the Standard bred, the Thoroughbred, the American Saddle bred, the Tennessee Walkers, the Shetland—all represented in this area by splendid examples of their breed.

And already the Appaloosa is "catching on;" Ophal Holbrook, of Porterville and Tommy Maier, owner of the Riata Stables in Exeter, have both joined the ranks of the Appaloosa fancier.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Dilts are sure that this is only the beginning—that the Appaloosa has "found a new home" in Tulare county, and the San Joaquin valley.

All central California waters accessible by the fish planting truck have been well stocked with catchable size rainbow for the Independence Day holiday period. This year we have more fish than water so the suitable lakes and streams are receiving an extra heavy planting of big fish.

Over on the coastside the following waters have been stocked for the weekend fishermen: San Mateo county: Gazos and Pescadero creeks; Santa Cruz county: Bear, Fall, San Vicente and Corralitos creeks and San Lorenzo river; Monterey county: Carmel river and Arroyo Seco creek; San Luis Obispo county: Lopez creek.

Abalone and clam diggers will have minus tides starting Friday when there will be a -0.1 tide at 3:57 a.m. Coastal grunion run however is not scheduled until July 7 through 10.

Parents are often inclined to wait until just before the season opens before attempting to have junior secure the necessary training certificate and then find it's too late. Instructors are all volunteers and must work in the safety course to suit their spare time.

News Of The SPRINGVILLE COMMUNITY

By WINNIE GAGE

The Springville Community Methodist Church held a potluck supper, Friday evening, June 26, on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Gill. The supper was sponsored by the W.S.C.S. and was in honor of the new minister, Rev. W. Smith and his wife, Dorothy.

Among the 77 guests present were Rev. C. Ford of the Porterville Methodist Church and his wife. The weather was perfect and a wonderful evening of fellowship, fun and good food was enjoyed by everyone.

Twin daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gill on June 26th in the Sierra View hospital in Porterville, one was named Marguerite Lynn, the other one Catherine, but she only lived a few hours. They weighed a little over two pounds each. Marguerite will remain in an incubator until her normal weight is reached. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Finley; the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Anna Gill.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Counts of Camp Nelson have sold their home on Hollyhock Hill to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Means of Bakersfield. The Counts have moved into their new home near the swimming pool. Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Counts are her sister, Mrs. Ora Foster, and grandson, of Palo Alto, Mrs. Garland Roberts and children, Linda and Terry of Fresno.

Camp Nelson has a new trailer court about ready for occupancy and the huge 100,000 gallon water tank has been hooked up with plenty of water for all patrons and in case of fires.

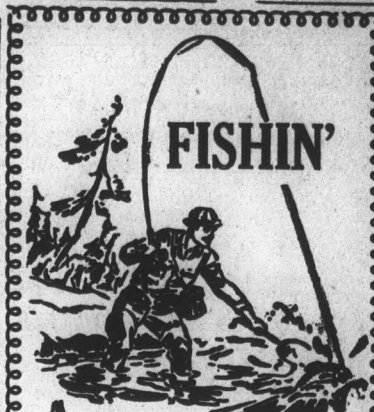

Col. and Mrs. Bill Balyntine and children of Edwards Air Base have rented a cabin and are staying a month at Camp Nelson.

Recent guests of Mrs. Ruth Martranga were her brother Winston Watson of Orange, and Mrs. Louise Squires of New Port Beach. They picniced at Balch Park Saturday.

The Southern Baptist Chapel closed their vacation last Friday with a program and party in the evening. Helping with the classes were Rev. Ford of Porterville, Jean Martin of Radford College, Radford, Virginia; Miss Virgie Rogers, Miss Margaret Worley and Mrs. Roberta Carmen of Porterville. Mrs. Roy Oppe was the pianist.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Lyman were in San Francisco a few days on business. Their daughter, Cheryl, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hodges in Visalia for a few days.

Cantaloupe picking is declining in Imperial valley.

Heavy plantings this week for the holiday weekend will find the Tule river well stocked in the areas around Camp Nelson, Camp Wishon and Cedar Slope. Lighter plantings will be made in the North fork, and the Mahogany Flats, Moorehouse hatchery stretches. In most other areas, water is too low, and fishing is dropping off.

Parties returning from Big Kern report fishing at its best in practically all parts of the river. Little Kern excellent above the mouth of Click's creek, and practically unfished up to this time.

From Balch Park Pack station, Maggie, Blossom, Hidden and Evelyn lakes very good. Summit lake poor. Twin lakes, fair. South Fork pasture area water, low, but still good fishing. Wet Meadow creek, Soda Spring creek and Peck's canyon, good. All have been fished very little.

Certain weaknesses in basic administration need correction: Too many city transactions have been made on a word-of-mouth basis, rather than on a written, business-like basis. Better coordination is needed between departments — the right hand should know what the left hand is doing.

In city financing, policy for 50 years has been to wait for a piece of equipment to wear out, then in a single budget, make the money available to replace it. There now seems to be an opinion among councilmen that the city can do better than this — that money should be set aside each year, in somewhat uniform amounts, so that as equipment wears out, funds are available to replace it — long term planning, it's referred to.

The same thinking is evident in relation to future building, certain maintenance, and other developments that can be foreseen as the city grows; basically the idea is to work on not only a one-year plan, but also on well-thought-out, yet flexible five-year and 10-year plans.

And along with this thinking comes operation of those city departments that are strictly commercial business — water, sewage disposal, garbage disposal — operations that should pay their way, and that, for the most part, have paid their way, but which need a good looking at now in view of rising costs.

Somewhere along the line, the judgement of Solomon might also be indicated, for in considering tax rate, while at the same time looking at capital outlay items totalling over $400,000, the question is: What to cut, what to leave in, what are the greatest needs now in new equipment, new buildings, new sewer lines, new water lines, new wells, new storm drains, new streets? The answers from city councilmen will appear in that aforementioned 1959-60 budget.

One important item should not be overlooked: Thanks to previous city administrations, Porterville has money in the bank. The city should always have adequate money in the bank, but just how much is adequate?

Our opinion in general terms is that tax money should not be accumulated merely for the sake of accumulating money; taxpayers are entitled to benefits from the money they pay in taxes, benefits in as short a period of time as possible; if tax money is accumulated, it should be specifically committed on a basis of specific long-term plans; money out at three per cent interest is not sound financing when essential items of equipment are worn out but are still being used. These ideas are being discussed at city budget meetings.

Incidentally, you can count on the fingers of one hand the number of persons attending city budget meetings, which is understandable, since we the people usually wait to voice our opinions until we get our tax statements — when it's too late.

But, equally understandable, a goodly number of persons attended a city council meeting to protest two-hour parking limit on city parking lots — because they were personally inconvenienced by this parking limit.

Yet which is the item of importance — a city budget that will exceed a million dollars and will, in a way, play a part in shaping the future of Porterville, or two-hour parking?

Well, both are important in the minds of interested citizens, and as yet, the final answer has been reached on neither.

If you have driven down the beautiful new section of Grevilla avenue, you have no doubt seen the power poles and fire hydrant in the middle of the new sidewalk.

Few mayors can point with pride to a fiasco such as this, and perhaps such a monument to confusion should be preserved, just to prove that it can happen here. But a momentous decision has been made: The power poles and the fire plug will be moved away from the center of the new sidewalk, and we doubt that such things will appear in the middle of sidewalks in the future.

Actually, the city of Porterville is in a definite state of flux right now. A new city manager is coming up; a new city engineer is on the way; a new city council, composed of opinionated and outspoken individuals is tossing around many good, new ideas.

This all lends to a bit of uncertainty here and there at the moment. But we suspect that out of this period of flux and uncertainty will come the beginning of

No, on second thought we don't suspect it. We're sure of it.
